Bio for Gaurab Raj Upadhaya

Gaurab Raj Upadhaya is one of the founders of the Nepal Research and Education network. He is currently a member of the NREN board, and leads it's technical activities and initiatives. Gaurab has supported and wored with many different R&E groups mainly in training REN members in advanced routing and IPv6 over the years. He is currently employed by Limelight Networks (LLNW) as Network Architect on their backbone engineering team and supports Limelight's high speed backbone in Asia, Europe and North America. Gaurab previously worked for Packet Clearing House (PCH) as Senior Internet Analyst (2002-2010) and ran PCH's global anycast DNS platform and IXP support programs. During his career, he has spoken and presented at INET, APRICOT, SANOG, APNIC, NZNOG, MENOG, AUSNOG, PHNOG, JANOG, AfNOG, NANOG, ICANN, TIP conferences as well as RIPE and LINX Meetings.